A. REMARKS & INVITATIONS

INVITATION FROM WAS PRESIDENT

Dear colleagues:

I have the pleasure to invite you to the 11 Conference of the Asia-Oceania Federation for Sexology, to be held in Bali, August, 4-8, 2010.

Sexology has come of age, and its tools and accumulated knowledge represent valuable contribution to create a better world. The Asia-Oceania region is one vibrant and progressive group of nations that have confronted the challenge of improving its citizen's quality of life in many respects. The quality of each person's sexual life, better represented by the term sexual health, is a requisite for having a healthy life and a dignified existence. Sexology, searching for solutions for problems and ways to prevent situations that deteriorate health is the best alternative for the effectiveness of the search for a better world, sexually speaking.

I look forward to a wonderful meeting, not only accompanied by great sexual scientist, but surrounded by the magic of Bali, a great destination for this meeting and surely, an opportunity not to be missed by anyone working in the area and genuinely interested in the scientific study of human sexuality.

With my best personal regards.

Eusebio Rubio-Aurioles MD, PhD

President

World Association for Sexual Health (WAS, formerly World Association for Sexology)

MESSAGE FROM AOFS PAST PRESIDENT

The officers of the organizing committee of the 11th Asia-Oceania Conference for Sexology in Indonesia have vast experience in hosting meetings of this nature. They have dedicated interest and devotion for research, treatment and promotion of sexual health. We can be rest assured of a feast of best organizational, social and scientific program from them. The venue, Bali is an international city known for world-class congresses and touristy attractions and is situated at the centre of Oceania and Asia with direct air connection from many cities.

We are at the 20th year since the first inaugural meeting and the formation of the Asian Federation for Sexology in Hong Kong in 1990. In line with the remarkable advances in many areas of sexuality, AOFS has grown by leaps and bounds in bringing together many sexologists from different cultural background in the region to share their experiences and friendship at our biennial meetings. Let us hope for more collaborative studies and exchanges of ideas among the fraternities from countries in Asia-Oceania and beyond. May every country in the region be represented by many delegates at the Bali meeting.

With best wishes for a great success of the AOFS2010,

P. Ganesan Adaikan

Founder President, Society for the Study of Andrology and Sexology, Singapore

Past President, Asia-Oceanian Federation for Sexology

WELCOME ADDRESS FROM CHAIRMAN OF INDONESIAN ASSOCIATION OF SEXOLOGY

Distinguished participants, ladies and gentlemen

On behalf of the Indonesian Association of Sexology, I welcome you all participants of the 3rd National Congress which is held in conjunction with the 11th conference of Asia-Oceanian Federation for Sexology. Welcome to Bali for all of you who come from different cities and countries.

As you all know, many national and international scientific events have been conducted in Bali. However this is the first time for AOFS to conduct the conference in this paradise island. Your presence is an expression of your responsibility to the role and development of Sexology in Indonesia and Asia Oceania region. The theme of the conference, "Sexuality through the life span", reminds all of us that Sexology is absolutely needed.

Many problems related to sexuality can be easily found in this country and region. These problems need us as professionals in Sexology. However, there are still many "professionals" who do not act as professionals. Therefore all members of the Indonesian Association of Sexology and all participants from Asia Oceania region are hoped to absorb many scientific information during this conference.

But of course after your busy time for scientific issues, you will have time for relax. You can see many interesting cultural places and arts of Bali, enjoy the warm of beautiful beach, and taste the best food. Therefore to bring along your family with you is a good idea.

Finally, thank you for your attendance in this event. I believe you all will get a lot of memories of Bali after this conference.
